CITY OF CHICAGO:

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 2, 1853.

BY THE FIRST FLIGHT.

THE GREAT PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The St. Louis papers are beginning to enter-tain apprehensions, we think with good reason, of undue Southern influence in the management and control of the Pacific Railroad enterprise. The grand scheme of Benton, Walker & Co., as first erected but amendment at the financial bulwark of the undertaking. But it was begun to assume a form which is not only tangible and true, but which may result in great prejudice to Western interests. It is unwise to entrust the stock to others than those who do not generally give their generous sign manual to any paper which does not afford a reasonable promise of fair returns. P. T. BARNUM always invests his means with an eye to the main chance, and P. T. BARNUM figures on the subscription books to the tune of $450,000. EDGAR COWAN, of New York is a man whose vast experience in railroad matters is certainly enabled him to judge with correctness of the probable safety and profit of investment, in such enterprises, and the name of DANIEL CHESTER KEARNY in large proximity to that of P. T. BARNUM. And as all the stock of the company is now subscribed, and for the most part by good men and true, barring the bagatelle of some $1,000,000, and he doubt not that Messrs. J. Walker's $100,000,000, and he doubt not he is good to secure the even this munificent subscription, the project certainly is worthy of serious and earnest attention by those whom it may concern, and "we of the West" are surely of that number.

It is easy to see that the South has very great interests at stake in the question which is now agitated as to the route which the proposed road shall take. The leading men of Texas are embarked in it and of course will use their influence to give a Southern direction to the road. And influences not easily misunderstood lead to the opinion that the entire South will be pressed together in pushing the route proposed by the New York scheme upon the attention of the Government. The claims of the West no longer receive attention, while the claims of the South are lauded to the skies.

The St. Louis Intelligencer says; "The New York project was not received in Louisiana either at all. It is full time that the people of the Mississippi and Red River, the Atchafalaya and Bayou Teche, and the whole of southern Louisiana unitedly referred to as the great market-place of all state papers, be gave no distinctly to understand, that he would tolerate no attempt upon Cuba, such as had been made by Signor Lopez, and his co adventurers. His sentiments and organ, the Washington Union, taking its cue from the inaugural, taunted the Whigs and denounced them for having expressed an apprehension that Filibusterism would not be promptly punished by the administration; and all the provincial organs boasted that the law of 1818 against Filibusters would be summarily punished for their first over act.

These were the promises—what have been the acts? What commentary does the practice of the administration furnish upon its promises? It is soon told. Not many months ago, hardly before the pressure of the country and finished publishing the inaugural, and long before the demagogues had recovered from their hoarseness consequent on shouting forth its praise, an individual, who was notoriously known as one of the active participators in both of the Cuban expeditions, was taken from Louisville and fastened with an appointment as Charge to Vera Cruz. We had been promised that the law of 1818 would be strictly enforced, that men guilty of filibustering would be unceremoniously published as criminals; and yet in the face of this we see a notorious filibuster appointed to a place of profit and of honor. "Consistency thou art indeed a jewel!"

Nor is this all; for but a few days ago, at a time when the filibusters are with very good reason believed to be in the midst of a most important and vigorous movement, this wonderful President appoints John L. O'Sullivan, the great head and front of the filibustering clique, charge d'affairs to Portugal. We do not see how any honest citizen can endorse this appointment.—Mr. O'SULLIVAN is one of the most notorious filibusters in the country. He has written more in favor of filibusterism, and has used greater personal influence in promoting it than any other man now living, and has been the centre and soul of the formidable association in New York for the offering of a revolution in Cuba by armed adventurers from the United States.

As we take it, it will be rather difficult for any one whose judgment is not warped and whose mind is not corrupted by the sickening hypocrisy of diplomacy, to regard these acts in any other light than as an endorsement of filibusterism. We cannot see how the administration, with any manner of consistency, can possibly attempt to punish any future violations of the law of 1818, which it has swore to support, after having given to the most open and notorious disobeyers and defiers of that law some of the best honors in the country's gift. This law prescribes to such men as Jos. I. O'SULLIVAN, fine and imprisonment, but we think that Heaven, on an administration, which has rewarded openly two of the most notorious filibusters in the land, one by the chargeship to Vera Cruz, and the other by the chargeship to Portugal, undertake, in any future contingency, to send men, who follow in their footsteps, to the Penitentiary!

On the contrary, will not the hearts of the filibusters, as they embark again on some partial ous enterprise, be buoyed up with hope, fondled, too, on very reasonable ground, of receiving on their return, some snug consulship with which to console their disappointed relatives, instead of a warrant for the State Prison! they will look for their credentials to a foreign court, instead of the steven crown and parti colored dress of the convict, they will expect to sport the perfumed locks and gay trappings of a foreign minister; and instead of handcuffs they will look forward to wearing embroidered ruffles.

A Southern Journal, in speaking of this matter, thus expresses its honest indignation.

This rewarding of men guilty of an actual violation of the criminal code of the country, is a premium for violation, and encouragement to transgression. Every tongue should denounce it. The Administration has recently said that all who are willing to stand upon the Baltimore platform are considered as entitled to share the patronage of the government, but we thought the declaration might be intended to apply merely to different political constructions of that platform, and never supposed it was meant to include men guilty of violations of the criminal laws.—We wonder if it is to apply to thieves, burglars, horse-stealers, and the like? If there is to be no bar to office, provided the original "stands fairly and squarely upon the Baltimore platform?" Who can answer?

MISS JULIA DEAN.

Miss Dennet, in her "Homes of the New World," alludes to this popular actress in the following manner. While at Mobile, Miss Dennet says:

"In the evening I went to the theatre, to which I was invited by the manager, and was kindly offered the use of his private box at my disposal during my stay in the city. I saw Miss Julia Dean, a young lady of Jewish blood, in the play of "The Hunchback." The whole performance was admirable, and I was greatly pleased with another piece, "The Daughters of the Stars, in which a young and highly gifted actress Miss Julia Dean, appeared to great advantage. Her voice is never seen any setting in which so many pathos was combined with so much freshness and

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

SPARING TO SPEND; or the Lo Rose and Feather. By T. S. Arthur. New York, Scribner 145 Nassau St. Chicago A. H. & C. Sutter 120 Lake St.

This delightful story which first appeared in the columns of Arthurs Home Gazette, is written as its title indicates, to exhibit the evils that flow from the too common lack of prudence, self-denial and economy in young people at the beginning of life; and also to show, in living contrast the beneficial results of a wise restriction of the wants to the means. The author has acquitted himself of the Task in that happy and agreeable manner so peculiarly his own, and which has won for him, in a very brief space a place in the first rank of American writers on Domestic Life. The lesson which this story inculcates is one which can not be too frequently enforced. Extravagance, or living beyond ones means is the besetting sin of the people of this country, in all walks of life, and we gladly hail anything which will have a tendency to check the spread of the evil. That this would be the effect of a general perusal of this book we do not doubt.

ANCIENT SILVER MINE.—The Lancaster (Pa) Whig gives a long and interesting account of the recent opening and exploration of a mine of argentiferous galena in Paquea valley, Lancaster county, which was known and worked prior to the revolutionary war. The old shafts have been cleaned out by direction of some Philadelphia capitalists and the ore assayed by Dr. Fahnestock, of Lancaster, who pronounced it to contain upwards of five hundred dollars worth of silver to the ton of lead. Professor Booth and other chemists have also made assays, it is stated, and with similiar results. The ore yields about eighty per cent. of lead. Copper and zinc ores are also found in the same place, which contains a considerable amount of silver, though the exact quantity has not yet been ascertained. At the breaking out of the revolutionary war, the shafts and tunnels were carefully closed up, and all operations ceased; and consequently all traces of the mine were lost and forgotten. The editor of the Whig, who has visited the scene, says:—

"One tunnel, or adit level, which we entered, is about one hundred yards in length, seven high, and five feet wide, driven through soil and rock. A shaft along the Pequea creek is about fifty feet deep, and an adit level had just been commenced, which was probably intended to approach the former, about one hundred feet below. The main shaft, however, which is supposed to be from two to three hundred feet deep, has not yet been explored out.

"It is supposed that the opposition is certainly well supported by the size of the dirt heap outside) that another tunnel runs under that situated to, from the main shaft. However this may be, the work is relieved. The ore when first well worked out as it emerged toward the surface, and there can be no question as to the success which attended their operations from the primitive manner in which they were prosecuted.

"Numerous 'trial pits' of more or less depth are spread over the surface to the distance of nearly half a mile, and as if the vein had been carefully and diligently proved on the surface, before definite arrangements for permanent mining had been made. Mr. Bowel has already found some six or seven implements, all of different and peculiar structure, and such as regular miners alone could use. From the very midst of these shafts, now covering from the dirt heaped themselves, are trees of considerable age, two of which we judge, are seventy years old. The spot was covered with trees some fifteen years ago."

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.

We learn from the Jackson County Press, Iowa, that a fire at Bellevue, broke out in the carpenter shop of J. B. Bovard, about 1 o'clock Saturday morning. It was soon in flames. His loss in tools and machinery is about $1,000.—The fire soon spread to the Catholic Church, a small wooden building, which was also soon destroyed. Loss about $400. Mr. Wynkoop also lost $300 in lumber, and some other losses are mentioned. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a drunken man named Nicholas Kiesiel, who was in the employ of Mr. Bovard, and who had been in the shop to sleep.—He perished in the flames.

THE CANAL LAND QUESTION.

We stated some time since that Mr. McClelland, Secretary of the Interior, had confirmed the action of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal Commissioners in the location of lands they have made for the construction of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, in pursuance of the Act of Congress appropriating 750,000 acres for that purpose; the question of the Company's right to their lands is disputed. The Washington Union states that an effort is about being made to induce the Secretary to reverse his decision in the case. State Senator Sherman of Michigan, who is said to be heavily interested in the adverse location, is here, accompanied by his counsel, the Hon. Mr. Busl of Detroit, probably concerning this matter. General Hall, of Michigan, also in Washington, as well as the Hon. C. W. Whipple, who was Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Michigan as a State, and is at present a member of the Land Office Court. It strikes us that the effort to procure a change in the Secretary's decision in the case above referred to, can hardly prove successful, in view of the fact that the Secretary, coming directly from the Gubernorship of Michigan, may be supposed to have been thoroughly informed upon all the questions involved, ere taking the position he now occupies, and which is of great importance, indeed, to all the States and the people interested in the speedy and proper completion of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal.

We may add that the main point in issue in this canal lands case, seems to us to be as follows, viz: The law authorized and directed the Company through an agent to reserve such lands as they desired to take up under its provisions. The Company, through the Receiver at the times, (Mr. Ingersoll) did file a list in the Land Office, designating what lands they desired to have reserved. Subsequently Mr. B. withdrew the list, after which other parties entered the lands reserved. The Land Office decided that, having filed the list, Mr. Brown was functus officio so far as his agency for the company was concerned; and that the subsequent withdrawal being of no legal consequence, the Canal Company could not lose their rights to the land in question, by his illegal act. The adverse claimants, however, contend now that the withdrawal was legitimate, which puts a different aspect on the case, and upon that they ask the Secretary of the Interior to review his decision.—Detroit Tribune.

EXTRA SESSION.

There is an unanimous expression in favor of an extra-session of the Illinois Legislature. The business of the State has so far outgrown the Constitution, that an extra session is indispensible. Gov. Matteson must be convinced, by this time, of the wide dissatisfaction that will be created if he fails to comply with the wishes of the people in this particular. In only one or two of the papers of the State, is any opposition visible; these exceptions to the general rule, are so sickly-sentimental, that they need not be taken into account. —Galena Upronian.

ANOTHER ANCIENT KNOX INDIANA CASE.—A boy named John Dwyer was found by M. Brayman, Esq., and one or two other gentleman, on the Lafayette road, his clothes wet from the water into which he had fallen, and he had thrown by some one or boys, and himself in a state of extreme exhaustion. He was taken into the house of Mr. Batty, on Michigan Avenue, and Mr. B. procured him clothing, while the other gentleman presented him with some money, including thirteen dollars from J. B. Wyman, Esq. Upon cross-examining the lad, he stated that he had been living with a man named Chas. Tiddle-mill at Elgin who turned him off to shift for himself; that he had been in the watch house 3d. The gentlemen said some ladies present retired to another room, while the boy in a very quiety and modest manner, unwashed upon the case, but on returning found that the object of their solicitude had taken his leave very quietly and modestly, and indeed rather shyly, too. The parties who had taken so much interest in the case, we believe, generally came to the conclusion that the boy's story was correct. Thereupon one had been spoiled by their first interference, but that their sympathy had been worked upon by a very gracious young woman.—Journal.

☞ It is reported that President Pierce has revived the "Kitchen Cabinet," and that it is composed of Sidney Webster, Col. Forney, Pierce Butler, Pioneer Stimson, Paul R. George, and Postmaster Barrett, with perhaps a few others, who may be selected under the head of "Consulting Politicians." With such a kitchen cabinet, it is no wonder that he often finds himself in hot water.

We were not a little astonished, says the Galway (Ireland) Express, to witness a number of the Irish peasantry, upon the occasion of the "holy well" at Loughrushin on Sunday afternoon, near the railway terminus, walking on their bare feet on a circular path made of small sharp stones. It was a painful sight to see the poor creatures, as they proceeded on their work of penance, writhe under the pain inflicted by the stones. On each penitent making a circuit of the well, when they came in front of its entrance, they dropped a bead, and made a very low curtsey.

LOCAL MATTERS.

LECTURES BEFORE THE YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Our city has occupied a somewhat isolated position during the winter months; it seems probable, on account of the want of complete railroad connections; hence the absence of those intellectual amusements, afforded by public lectures from distinguished gentlemen, that have added so great a charm in the winter evenings in the Eastern cities. We trust such a condition of things has passed away, and that hereafter we shall not be to rely, for amusement as on a few lectures from our own citizens and concerts and theatrical exhibitions. Certainly we shall not, if the plans inaugurated by the Young Men's Association some months ago, are carried out successfully,—a result, we may say, entirely dependent upon the liberality, intelligence, and refined taste of the people of the city. That plan was, to invite distinguished gentlemen from all parts of the Union,—persons well-to-do in Art, Science, Literature, History, Theology, Medicine, Politics, Mechanics, to address us on every subject of interest,—to visit the city during the winter, and deliver one or more lectures before the Association. In the execution of that plan, the President of the Association, Mr. Sawyer, D. Wann, addressed letters of invitation to forty-four gentlemen, from thirty-eight of whom answers have been received. A large part of these decline on account of other engagements, and a portion have not fully determined; but the following gentlemen have announced their acceptance in the appointments of the Association:

Edwin P. Whipple, Esq., of Boston, will deliver two lectures, Dec. 1st and 2d,—subject: "Heroic Character.—Eccentric Character."

Hon. Horace Mann, two lectures, Dec. 8th and 9th,—subject not mentioned.

George W. Curtis, Esq., of New York, two lectures, Dec. 12,—subject: "Young America."

John C. Lees, D. D., of Buffalo, two lectures, Dec. 22,—subject: "Romance of History, or, Lost Atlantis."

Horace Greeley, Editor of New York Tribune, two lectures, Dec. 27th and 29th, but subject not known.

Prof. St. John, of Cleveland, one lecture, Jan. 3d, but subject not mentioned.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, one lecture, Jan. 12th.

John G. Saxe, editor, of Burlington, Vt., will be here Feb. 16th, and read a "Poem on New England," and on the 20th, a lecture on "Poetry and Poets."

Besides the above, letters of acceptance have been received from Bishop Potter, of Philadelphia, James Russell Lowell, of Cambridge, Rev. James Freeman Clarke and Rev. Hubbard Winslow, of Boston, and Rev. Orville Dewey, of Sheffield.

Other gentlemen, also, of note,—among the number Rev. Dr. Cox, and Henry J. Raymond, of the N. Y. Times,—signify their desire to lecture before the Association, if they can make such arrangements of their other engagements as will permit them to come West.

If the present season's lectures should prove successful, the Association will be able, another year, to secure a large addition of brilliant names to the list. It is essential to the accomplishment of such a plan that the course of lectures to be given during the coming winter should be well sustained. But we have too much confidence in the intelligence and enterprise of our citizens to have a doubt on this point.

THE ITALIAN OPERA.

The Opera Troupe performed "La Sonnambula" at the Theatre on Monday evening, in a manner that excited general admiration. The house was comfortably filled, but we were surprised and sorry not to witness a larger "turn out." The theme and the company which performed it are of the highest excellence, and deserved a house filled from "pit to gallery." The performance throughout was of the highest merit, and the Troupe gained the praise of every one present. Signor Di Tivo sustained himself admirably, and her representation of a somnambulist was of a superior order. Signor Pomilini won for himself the esteem of all present, as an artiste of ability, and received marked applause from the entire audience. Those present regarded the performance as one of the most brilliant entertainments ever on the stage, and we fear it will be a long time before we again have in Chicago a musical company of so superior a character.

The company left for Milwaukie yesterday morning, where they will perform this evening, and also on Friday and Saturday evening. On their way to Detroit, they will stop in this city, and give our citizens an opportunity of hearing them in a concert next Monday evening, at Tremont Hall. If they are not greeted with a crowded house on that occasion, we shall be compelled to admit that our citizens cultivate appreciate music, and that of the highest and most sublime description. This charge has already been brought against our city, and the apparent neglect with which the Opera Troupe was received at the Theatre, renders it apparently more correct than we are disposed to have it. Let there be a prompt denial of this assertion on Monday evening next.

New Depot at Clark Street.—The prospect for a new and improved crossing of the river at the foot of Clark street will be hailed with pleasure by every individual, whether a resident or visitor. At the Council, however, on Monday evening, Mr. Harper, City Superintendent, presented the plan of a new bridge at Clark street, similiar to that on Lake street, with new improvements. He also recommended that the old bridge be placed at Xinnis street, on the North Branch. The whole estimate will be only $12,000. The plan and estimates were referred to the committee on harbors and bridges.

Raw Snow-balls.—On Monday evening, at the Council meeting, the Street Commissioner of the South Division reported having constructed side walks as follows, at the expense of the city:

On the west side of Archer Road from State street to the city limits.

On the west side of Sherman street from Polk to Taylor street.

On the north side of Madison street from Wells to Market street.

On the north side of State street to Michigan avenue.

For the Tribune.

Under the caption of "A Higher Standard," in the Democratic Press of Saturday, will be found some words that might well make the writer of them blush, to be their acknowledger, "While crime is to be regretted on every hand, there should be a perfect pureness on the part of those who advocate correct principles in order to carry them out and prove a blessing to the community." Yet this paper now puff with complacency what may be termed the hell of Chicago, a place which perhaps within the next few years will contribute more misery and degradation, make more widows and orphans, and spread its contaminating influence into more happy homes than any other, directing them of happiness and honor, to taste the bitter cup of misery and sink beneath the shame that a drunkard's doom has brought upon them—an only inheritance. Let justice be done to all, is the wish of Many.

Those we Users.—Our city fathers are making a movement for the taking of the census of the city. At the last Council meeting, on the question of taking the census being brought up, an order was offered in favor of taking the same with statistics, and that a Committee be appointed for that purpose. The whole subject was finally referred to the Finance Committee.

☞ A free ferry has been established at the crossing of the river at Twelfth street, and the old boat recently used at the Lake House Ferry has been transferred thither.

☞ The propeller New England, which went ashore on Lake Erie on Thursday night, on her passage from Buffalo to this port, has been got off, and arrived at Detroit on Saturday last.

LOST CHILD.

A little girl, apparently about 4 years old, came to the Rock Island House, Clark St., on yesterday. She was found in the Depot of the Galena & R. R. and is supposed to have been left there by accident by her parents. She says her name is Laura Bohannon, and that she came from Buffalo with her mother, who on arriving here requested her to wait until she found her baggage, since which time she has seen nothing of her.

The city papers, and others, will confer a favor by copying this notice.

☞ We call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Wesmon & Davis, Eastern and general Undertakers. During an Acquaintance of 14 years with the Junior member of the firm, we have found him a most trust worthy gentleman, and as a mechanic, he is not surpassed. We commend the new firm to the attention of those who need their service.

G. J. G. C. R. R. Freight.—We understand that the in freight of the above road during the past month, amounted to $24,000. This was principally on produce, the amount received being 6,419 bbls flour, 251,445 bushels of Wheat, 24,901 do. Oats, 9,350 do. Corn, 12,239 Bu Barley, and 13,252 do. Rye,—which, by charging the Four to Grain, makes the total 479,625 bushels.

Canal Business.—The statement of receipts and shipments on the Illinois and Michigan Canal from the Chicago office during the month of October, will be found in our commercial column. The tolls received at the Collector's office in this city during the same period amounted to $21,378 24—being an advance of $4,534 20 on the receipts of the previous month. The amount of tolls received during the month of October, for the past three seasons are this given:

October, 1853	$14,431 06
" 1852	16,830 24
" 1850	15,205 10

The decline in the business of the Canal during the past month is wholly attributed to the low state of the Illinois river. That stream has not remained as low during the month of October for several years past, as during the past month.

City Council.—A petition was presented to the Common Council on Monday evening, asking for the removal of the present cemetery to some portion of the city limits. The petition was referred to the committee on public grounds. We think the cemetery would be preferable were it removed North of its present location. That vicinity is fast being occupied by dwelling houses, and we know that arrangements are being made for the erection of large number of residences in that quarter next season. The route of the departed should be in a more quiet locality than they will be, were no attempt to that effect made during the next two years.

☞ It is proposed to change the name of Hector Avenue to that of Blue Island Avenue,—Connecting that street thoroughfare is being extended on to the road leading to Blue Island, and a superior plank road is being built for the entire distance, we think the change will be very appropriate.

☞ Messrs. Jacob A. Marshall, of this city, and Chas. B. Wiman, of Kane county, have associated themselves to carry on a general Auction and commission business. Mr. Marshall is an old citizen, a man of sprightly business habits, and a capital auctioneer. Mr. Wells has been clerk of Kane county for several years, is reputed to be a gentleman of unexceptionable character.

They have taken the North part of Mr. Gould's beautiful five story block on Dearborn street, and will occupy it in a few days. See their advertisement.

POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Rucker. There were but three "breaks" in the dock yesterday morning.

James Wilcox, was complained of being drunk and resisting the Watch. Fined $2.

John McDougal, was "headdrunk" at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon—and put position to be in on Monday morning. Fined $5.

Thomas Brodrick, drunk, noisy, resisting the Watch, &c; had a loaded pistol in his pocket. Fined $5.

☞ Mr. Gunn, the Counterfeit Bank Note Detector, is with us again and expects to remain during the Winter. All those who have not taken instructions should embrace the present opportunity. His office is No. 4, Davisons Bank Building.

COMMUNICATED.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Chicago Teachers' Institute on Thursday evening, November 3rd, at 7 o'clock, at the rooms of the Garden City Institute, 69 and 71, Adams street.

For teachers for the future! At the commencement of another year, we call upon you to come forward like men, and labor for the promotion of education in our midst. If we as teachers are true to our interests and unyielding, victory is sure to crown our efforts in a grand and noble cause. We are faint or weary, and refuse to come up to the work, we are unworthy of the high trusts committed to us by the good people of Chicago, and deserve only defeat and disgrace. Let us come like good soldiers to the conflict, and act manfully, that the standard of Education may be elevated. Let jealousy and animosity be lost sight of, and

Let us labor for one and another,
With a heart for our labor,
But somewhere—still pressing,
Learn to labor and to wait.

Mr. Gunton, a "live teacher," and a member of the Institute will deliver an address. Let the teachers of Chicago show themselves.

By order of
E. Dunham,
M. B. Greene, } Trustees.
H. H. Lee.

HALDEMAN CURED.

EMERSON'S AMERICAN HAIR RESTORATIVE.

For Restoring the Hair on Heads worn out with disease, scurvy, or the State Fair Fever, by creating golden ringlets of surpassing richness and beauty. This is not a secret or patent nostrum, it is a name given by Emerson, and will stand the test of a thousand years. Its virtues are known to all, and the cause is it that they authorize their Agents to take their names on GUARANTEE. Price to be had at once, between Randolph and Lake streets. WM. McMILLAN, corner Randolph and Dearborn street, Wholesale and Retail Agents for Chicago and surrounding country. 10d1y

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.

A decade and a half ago, Mr. Acton, of Mattoon, had his thigh most horribly lacerated when out riding, the horse running away, and his leg ending in violent inflammation and mortification. As thigh cured by Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which had the effect of healing the wound with wonderful rapidity, and restoring him to sound health.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

☞ For nobody of any kind, and certainly none of its patrons, can be said to regard a celebrity, or even an approval of the qualities of fever from all sections of the country, and all classes of people, as Lyon's Kathairon for Beautifying, Preserving and Restoring the Hair. We find it an invaluable article, and we believe it to be the best preparation for the Hair in the market. It is specially recommended by the Ladies of the Hair. We would advise the ladies who prize themselves upon their glossy tresses and of whom there are many, to use the Kathairon, they certainly can afford to, as it costs but 25 cents.

The Kathairon is sold throughout the world. by all druggists. R. P. Barnes, Proprietor, 192 Broadway, N. Y. and for sale by
